TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I am the owner of THE OFFICE BAR & GRILL in Bangkok and as an Australian I was very mindful of the Australian chemical Free Product Plug-In Pest Free and its proven scientifically tested credibility in ridding homes and businesses of Rats, Mice and Cockroaches. I called the company in Australia and asked them if they could send me a commercial unit for my business and two domestic units for my home.

I have had both products installed now for over 15 months and during that time I have had no sightings of the above in my business or my home, the units are fantastic as they work 24/7. You plug them in and forget about them it is that easy. Buildings in Bangkok have a big problem with Rats chewing the electrical wiring inside buildings which can be a worry in starting an electrical fire or also cause down time with the loss of important computer data by chewing through the computers cabling.

The advantage of me using Pest Free respects my staff and customer's health in not using chemicals and I can personally recommend the use of Pest Free to anyone who has a home or business with a Rat, Mice and Cockroach Problem.

To whom it may concern

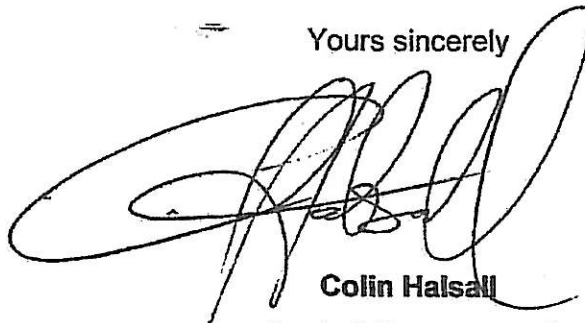

Bill Craster – Pest Free

We have experienced severe rodent infestation in some of our stores; to combat this we installed commercial Pest Free electronic units in several of these stores where traditional pest control methods had been found to be ineffective.

I can confirm that the Pest Free units have eradicated the rodent problem from these sites within 7 days of installation.

I have no hesitation in recommending Pest Free electronic units for their effectiveness.

Dear Mr Craster

I promised to keep you informed of our progress in trying to rid our buildings of a plague of mice and rats which had infested our 2 adjacent houses, and were being seen in the cellars and in two of the flats as well as being heard in the walls.

I started the exercise with a healthy scepticism about your claims to a potentially permanent solution by using your plug-in, electro-magnetic units, but I am very happy to report that since we started using them, and from the first day of installation, there have been no further signs of rodents. They appear to have left our premises on the very first day !

There seems no reason to think that this happy result will not continue and I will be glad to keep you informed.

Many thanks indeed for your help, which is much appreciated.

Yours sincerely

Dear Sirs

Re: Electronic Pest Free Rodent Control System

As Managing Agents of a Knightsbridge Estate we initially arranged for Pest Free (UK) Ltd to install their electronic systems into a block of flats under our management. The problem of rodent infestation arose when a restaurant situated in the near vicinity were less than efficient with their own rodent control.

Shortly after Mr Craster fitted the system into the property, the residents reported a marked decrease of rodent activity and this has continued some three years after having the system fitted. The impressive results led us to install the systems into other flats as well as common parts of several other residential blocks.

Apart from the positive results, several residents, who have children, were pleased not to have a pest control system which relies on the use of poisons.

Mr Craster and his associates have been extremely helpful and efficient in helping us to control an unpleasant problem and have taken special care to explain the method of control to the residents, especially to some of the older residents, thereby putting their concerns in perspective.

We would certainly recommend Pest Free (UK) Ltd and their environmentally friendly system to any one contemplating embarking on a pest preventative programme.

Yours faithfully

Dear Sir

I had to purchase 2 Pest Free for my sized home. This is the 3rd set of Pest Free I have purchased over many years and have been very pleased with the results. I live in a bush area and a few weeks ago heard rats in the rafters of my home keeping me awake at night, I knew the pest free I had been using for some years must not be working so bought 2 new ones. It only took 1 day & 2 nights and the rats had moved camp, not a sound from the rafters now. I have recommended Pest Free to other people

Yours sincerely
(Mrs) M. Egan.
